Prewar Tradition In The New Blueridge BR-260 Dreadnaught Guitar!

San Francisco, CA / March 22, 2004 – Introducing the Blueridge BR-260 Dreadnaught Guitar...The newest member of the popular line of Prewar-inspired acoustic guitars with ALL Solid Brazilian Rosewood by SAGA!

This instrument has all the best features traditionally only found only on vintage instruments from the past. Features that include the highly prized and rarely used Brazilian Rosewood for the back, sides and peghead overlay. Select close-grained spruce for the top, and traditional herringbone inlays and grained ivoroid binding complete this perfect guitar. Not only does this instrument look fantastic with its elegant and uniquely designed peghead logo script and inlay, but it also has the amazingly loud, booming tone that you could only expect from a guitar of this caliber and certainly costing thousands of dollars more. With this guitar you are easily at home in any pickin' circle or even in the recording studio.

So if you are looking for a modern instrument with that prized vintage look and tone so sought after by every player, the new Blueridge BR-260 is the instrument for you. Get your hands on a future collectable...today!
